MAXFORCE

Sprinter Van

Built for the Way You Work

Engineered to provide maximum versatility, maneuverability and efficiency

Centered around a Graco Reactor 3 E20 Proportioner, Core E1 feed pumps and internally heated hose, this rig has the space, tools and power to get the job done. The van boasts terrific fuel economy compared to driving a box truck or towing a trailer, helping you to greatly reduce your operating costs. It's easy to load two sets of material, with our custom drum sliding pads, and navigate your way to jobs quickly. The van easily maneuvers through tight spaces and city streets, all without having to worry about backing up a trailer.

Your crew will be cool in the summer, and warm in the winter months with air conditioning and heating unit options. Keep your operators safe with breathable air as well. Our intuitive weather curtain allows for easy in-and-out access to your equipment while keeping the interior temperature controlled. Like the other MaxForce builds, the Sprinter Van Rig has been engineered to provide a multitude of benefits. Get into tight jobsites easily and quickly. The high roof provides ample headroom and a surprising amount of space for storage, making it an ideal workspace. Its advanced technology ensures a smooth driving experience, while the robust design stands up to tough conditions.
